ABOUT ME

I am a driven software engineer with a bachelor's degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering and currently pursuing my master's studies. My mindset is shaped by years of dedication to high-performance activities that demand discipline, coordination, and consistency—qualities I naturally transfer into my work, learning process, and collaboration with others. Passionate about AI, modern software development, and continuous improvement, I thrive in dynamic environments where I can grow, contribute meaningfully, and tackle challenging problems alongside experienced professionals.
